A healthy Internet needs all of us

At Mozilla, we see the Internet as our largest shared global resource. The healthier it is, the more it benefits everyone. We can all be a part of keeping the Internet open, safe and accessible.

A Healthy Internet is Secure and Private

The Internet only stays healthy if we trust it as a safe place – to explore, transact, connect, and create. Our privacy and security online is under constant threat. But there's something you can do about it: get informed, protect yourself, and make your voice heard.

Learn how decide who can collect your data, lock down your sensitive information and keep prying eyes and ears out of your business.
